But what does
"Earth Friendly Handyman" MEAN?

It means earth-friendly materials
and practices,
super-tidy work habits,
able to diagnose and solve problems AND relaxingly reliable to boot!

In other words...
it means a JOB WELL DONE!

Jack B Green... the EARTH friendly HANDY man!

What the heck is an "EcoHandyMan" anyhow?

First and foremost, an EcoHandyMan conducts his/her work with a firm philosophy of sustainable practices, sustainable materials and sustainable approaches to every aspect of what is being done (including waste reduction, recycling and sustainable disposal).

Furthermore, this also means a commitment to sustainable practices and materials in the administration of the business itself. This includes everything from using the most environmentally benign and/or efficient materials and tools available, to keeping a clean, tidy and non-toxic work area, to traveling to the job site and procuring supplies in a manner that minimizes use of fossil fuels and, believe it or not, even fueling the worker himself with the most sustainable food choices possible! Here at Jack B. Green, we do all this and much more because, darn it, we've only got one Earth and for gosh sakes, we totally love her! !

TELL ME MORE!

Hey—tell us about Jack! Does he know what the heck he's doing?

Jack, a.k.a. Scott Prinzing, has construction, handyman, landscaping and maintenance work experiencing stretching back to 1980, when he went to Mexico with a group and helped construct a church building. Scott gained informal experience in construction, handymaning and maintenance during high school, college and graduate school, was employed for three seasons in a professional landscaping company, and worked in maintenance in three residential rental companies. More formal work in the construction industry followed in the '90s, leading to a position teaching construction and welding at the Billings Career Center for several years.

At this point, Scott has built or been involved in building and renovating dozens of homes, recreational homes and functional buildings, successfully executed many, many repair jobs of all description and cured the mundane woes of many property owners in Yellowstone and Carbon counties. He has been moonlighting regularly as a solo handyman now for almost 15 years, and would be thrilled to provide references upon request!

But Wait! What does he charge for his GreenTastic™ HandyWork?

WHAT a bargain!

Okay, so not only are you going to get great work delivered with the Earth in mind, but you are also going to get a screaming deal! Jack B.Green only charges a mere $25/hour! Man oh man! But, since you are a special pal of ours, if you mention "introductory offer" to us when you call, we'll give you the first two hours of Jack's GreenTastick HandyWork for a mere $20/hour! Lucky you!

TELL ME MORE!

To take advantage of this sweet deal, contact us at 598-0575 or send us an email. Scott will come out and discuss the job and the materials costs with you. (Jack B.Green — Scott — also offers bids for entire jobs, but only under certain circumstances.)

And don't forget - we are always willing to consider barter and trade arrangements! See our trade and barter page at www.CognitiveConfections.com!
